Leading expert to speak on 'nuclear alarmism'

One of the pre-eminent experts in the field of political science will deliver the University's first Nakamoto Peace and Conflict Studies Lecture. Dr. John Mueller will speak on "Nuclear Alarmism from Hiroshima to Al-Qaeda" at 7 p.m. Tuesday (April 13) in 115 Education Building.

The lecture is timely, points out Dr. Marc Simon, coordinator of BGSU's Peace and Conflict Studies minor. On April 8, President Obama presented his revision of U.S. nuclear strategy; he also just signed a nuclear arms reduction agreement with Russia, and April 5 was the one-year anniversary of his speech in Prague where he announced the long-term goal to abolish nuclear weapons.

Mueller holds the Woody Hayes Chair of National Security Studies at the Mershon Center, and is a professor of political science, at Ohio State University. He has written extensively on public opinion and U.S. foreign policy, and well as warfare and terrorism. He is currently working on terrorism and particularly on the reactions (or over-reactions) it often inspires. His most recent book, Atomic Obsession: Nuclear Alarmism from Hiroshima to Al Qaeda, published in November 2009 by Oxford University Press, suggests that atomic terrorism is highly unlikely and that efforts to prevent nuclear proliferation frequently have damaging results. He has also written Overblown: How Politicians and the Terrorism Industry Inflate National Security Threats, and Why We Believe Them, published in 2006 by Free Press.

Mueller is the author of a multiple-prize-winning book analyzing public opinion during the Korean and Vietnam wars, War, Presidents and Public Opinion, deemed "a classic" by the American Political Science Review.

An award-winning teacher, Mueller has also appeared on such popular television shows as "The O'Reilly Factor," "20/20," and "The Daily Show with Jon Stewart." He has written two scripts for musicals, authored Astaire Dancing, and is the director of the Ohio State Dance Film Archive.

In addition to the lecture, the Peace and Conflict Studies program is also sponsoring an essay contest on nuclear issues, with a $500 scholarship for the winner.

Inspired by her own survival of the dropping of an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, BGSU alumna Hiroko Nakamoto has donated $500 to inspire current BGSU students to consider the issue of nuclear weapons in our world.

War and peace explored in 'Mother Courage and Her Children'

Bertolt Brecht's timeless story of war and peace, "Mother Courage and Her Children," will be presented by the Department of Theatre and Film Thursday-Sunday (April 15-18). Evening performances Thursday through Saturday will begin at 8 p.m.; weekend matinees will begin at 2 p.m., in the Eva Marie Saint Theatre, located in University Hall.

In his gripping commentary, Brecht, a German poet, playwright and theatrical reformer, follows Mother Courage and her children through the landscape of war. A traveling vendor, Mother Courage sees war from all angles, profiting from and sacrificing all to the struggle. In the end, we learn that conflict is perpetual and eternal.

Single tickets are $12 for students and adults under age 65, $6 for children under 12, and $5 for senior citizens 65 and older. Group rates are available. Due to mature content, this

Chris Bergeron named head coach of Bowling Green hockey

Director of Athletics Greg Christopher has announced that Chris Bergeron has been named the seventh head coach in the history of the BGSU hockey program. Bergeron comes to Bowling Green after spending 10 seasons as an assistant coach at Miami University.

"Chris's passion, energy and commitment to excellence won us over," Christopher said. "As a player, he set the foundation for Miami's program, then as a coach he helped build the program to its current championship caliber. At every stage, Chris has been known as a tremendous leader. This is his time to step into a head coaching role and lead Bowling Green hockey to prominence."

As an assistant coach at Miami since 2000, Bergeron was part of eight, 20-win seasons and six trips to the NCAA Tournament. The RedHawks advanced to the Frozen Four in each of the past two seasons, playing in the national championship game during the 2008-09 campaign. Bergeron was heavily involved in the recruiting process, bringing in six players who would become All-Americans, and worked extensively with the team's forwards.

The Athletic Department will hold a press conference to introduce Chris Bergeron as the new hockey coach at 4 p.m. today (April 12) in the Wilcox Board Room on the third floor of the Sebo Center.

IN BRIEFSenior executive chef cooks for culinary conference

He delights the taste buds here at BGSU, and on Saturday (April 17), Senior Executive Chef Pat Hannan will be a major part of the Foodways Expo and Culinary Conference at Woodland Mall.

The conference will feature three demonstrations by Mario Rizzotti, culinary specialist and judge on the Food Network's "Iron Chef America," Hannan and Greg Shepherd of Stadium Salsa. Hannan will present "Extraordinary Seafood from Your Own Kitchen" and will also prepare lunch.

The event continues April 18 with the Foodways Expo. Visitors can check out an Iron Chef-style competition, sample foods from local vendors and tour Demonstration Alley. For more information or to register, visit http://cee.bgsu.edu/container.php?x=food_expo.

Vocal performer to attend SongFest 2010

A graduate student in collaborative piano will share her musical talents this summer at Pepperdine University in Malibu, Calif.

Kate Stubbs of Bowling Green was awarded the Margo Garrett Fellowship to attend SongFest 2010. The competitive award of $1,500 is one of 10 full-tuition fellowships offered to outstanding singers and pianists through the Marc and Eva Stern Foundation.

Stubbs, currently studying with Dr. Thomas Rosenkranz, music performance studies, graduated from BGSU in 2008 with a degree in piano. During her undergraduate years, she won
